The parliamentary life of a Bill

The stages as it makes its way through Parliament are:

Parliamentary jargon explained:

http://www.parliament.uk/about/glossary.cfm?ref=woolsac_4660

- First Reading

 - An MP sponsoring the Bill reads out its title and distributes copies.
 - The House will often refuse to send Private Members' Bills to second reading at this stage, but the MP will have drawn public and governmental attention to the matter.
- Second Reading

 - The House debates the general principles contained in the Bill.
 - It is rare for a Public Bill to be denied a second reading. This is the first time that a Public Bill might be defeated.
 - Programme Motions
 - A timetable setting out specific dates for the various stages of the Bill.
 - Guillotine motions
 - Used to limit debate on a Bill so that it can be quickly enacted.
- Committee Stage

 - The Bill passes to a Standing Committee created to deal with the particular Bill.
 - There will be about 18 MPs drawn from all parties in the Committee.
 - The Committee subjects the Bill to a line-by-line examination and makes amendments where necessary.
 - Select Committees are different. They take evidence rather than just debate issues. Any recommendations or findings emerging from these Committees are then passed to the Commons as command papers.
- Report Stage

 - Here, the Bill that has been amended during the Committee Stage is reviewed. All members of the House have an opportunity to speak and vote at this stage, making it distinct from the Standing Committee Stage, where the scope for debate is rather limited.
 - Known as the Consideration Stage in the Scottish Parliament and Northern Ireland Assembly
- Third Reading

 - The House looks at the final version of the Bill in its entirety.

- This stage is usually quite brief, as no amendments can be made.
- If substantial amendments are demanded, the Bill has to be sent back to the Standing Committee for further consideration.

► Lords Stages

- Similar to the various stages of the Commons except that after Second Reading, bills are committed to a Committee of the whole House; debate is unrestricted and amendments can be made at Third Reading.

► Lords Amendments Considered

- The Commons have to consider, approve or disapprove of any amendments made by the Lords.
- The Commons accepts around 90% of these Amendments because they are generally not controversial.
- The Lords may delay a Bill if, for example, it feels that there is no popular mandate for it. An example is the Sexual Offences (Amendment) Bill (now the Sexual Offences (Amendment) Act 2000 Chapter 44).
- The Parliament Acts of 1911 and 1949 limit the delaying power of the Lords to thirty days in the case of Money Bills (contain only provisions relating to taxation or expenditure) and up to one year in the case of other Bills.
- Unless the House of Commons invokes the Parliament Act, both Houses of Parliament must agree on the final text of the Bill.

► Royal Assent

- The Crown formally assents to the Bill in order for it to pass into law.
- The Sovereign, as the third pillar of Parliament's composition, must give consent to a Bill for it formally to become an Act.
- The last time Royal Assent was given by the Sovereign in person was in 1854.
- Since the UK is a constitutional Monarchy, the Sovereign is bound to Assent to any Bill, except in extraordinary circumstances. Assent has not been withheld since 1707, when Queen Anne refused a Bill for settling the militia in Scotland.

► Commencement Orders

- Some Acts are brought into force immediately, others by Commencement Orders.
- The Orders are statutory instruments, made by a Minister. Parliament is not involved.

► Sessional Cycle

A Public Bill must complete all its stages in one Session of Parliament. If it fails to, it can be re-presented the following Session, but has to begin the cycle again.
